The Velvet portfolio

A growing trend for velvet, with its origins in the fashion industry, is now inspiring one of the ultimate luxury packaging looks. Sensuous velvet labels are transforming applications that range from wine and spirits to cosmetics, craft foods and much more.

You can use velvet to add a touch of class to any product, and make neutral or bold colour choices to suit a brand. Avery Dennison offers the industry's broadest range of velvet materials – with 9 standard colours and low minimum order quantities. Custom colours can be created to match special applications, so the velvet trend is yours to use however you wish.

This portfolio helps you to engage all consumers' senses. It is an outstanding way to help brand owners make a lasting impression with soft, sophisticated packaging that talks of heritage values.

Full technical support is available, as with all Avery Dennison materials, and the portfolio is designed to convert well, without exposing white edges (thanks to the use of a black base paper).
