

Luminous Collection

With 15 years of consecutive growth, champagne and sparkling have become the “it” wines of today’s consumers looking to celebrate more, more often. Rose, too, is now fashionably premium, with a social media presence, versatility and affordability that make it the preferred choice of image-aware millennials. All in all, these wines are having a serious moment -- one that’s predicted to last well into the foreseeable future, according to Beverage Dynamics.

To help converters and brand owners ride the category wave, the Avery Dennison Luminous Collection offers distinct papers with a subtle radiance for not-so-subtle shelf appeal. Including silver, white, black, textured and patterned options, these papers shimmer and shine with stunning effect, drawing the eye by capturing luminous, reflected light.

With its new aesthetic, our Luminous Collection reflects a larger consumer trend for sparkle. Sparkle has been a major trend on the runways in recent seasons and according to experts, is a trend that has no age limit.
